TERENTIUS VARRO, Marcus, an Author of considerable renown j in his day, and usually styled the most learned of all the Romans, was born about 115 years before the Christian era; died at a very advanced age. Of the numerous Works which he is said to have written, only two have survived.——DE LING. LAT.—De Lingua Latina. Without place or date. This is the Editio princeps, generally supposed to have been printed at Rome, by Laver, about 1471.—De Ling. Lat. Without name of printer, place, or date, 4to. It is disputed by some whether the precedency should be given to this edition or to the former. It is probable that this one was a year or two later.—De Ling. Lat. Supposed to have been printed by Sachsel and Golsch, without place or date, fol. The date is k probably anterior to 1474.—De Ling. Lat. a Franc. Rholandello. Tarv. 1475, fol.—De Ling. A preferable edition to the former.

TERENTIUS, Publius Afer, an ancient Roman Comedian of high celebrity, and held up as the best model of the purity of the Latin language, was a native of Carthage, and born in the year of Rome 560; died m about 159 years before the Christian æra.——COMŒD.—Bibliographers have found considerable difficulty in deciding with regard to the early editions of Terence. More than twelve dateless editions have been mentioned, and the probable dates of these are often mere conjecture. The following list is perhaps as near the mark as such circumstances will allow:—Comediæ. Fol. Very probably printed by Mentelin at Strasbourg prior to 1470. This edition has been ably supported as the editio princeps.—Com. Fol., without date, place or printer, but supposed to have been executed about 1468.—Com. Mediol. Zarotus. Fol., the date of 1470 is generally allowed to this edition.—Com. 4to., sine ulla nota. n Supposed, with some certainty, to have been executed by Phil. de Lignamine, at Rome about 1470.—Com. ab Aulo Sabino, sine ulla nota. 4to. The typography of this volume is known to be that of George Laver, who printed at Rome in 1470.—Com. Par., without date, printed by Gering, Crantz, and Friburger. Fol. This edition appears to have been executed about 1471.—Com. Without name of printer, place or date, 4to. This is an extremely rare edition, and there is more difficulty in fixing any thing with regard to it than any of the former; it is most probable, however, that it was printed at Brescia, prior to 1472.—Com. Jo. de Colonia. Ven. 1471, 4to. This is the first edition of Terence with a printed date.—Com. Sweynheym o et Pannartz. Rom. 1472, fol. A more accurate edition than many of those which preceded it.—Com. Raphaelis Regii. Ven. 1473, fol. Some suppose this to be printed by Vindelin de Spira.—Com. Without date, 4to. Supposed to have been printed at Venice about the year 1474.—Com. Jo. de Colonia. Without date, fol. Probably not earlier than 1474.—Com. Mediol. 1474, fol. Affirmed to be printed by Valdarfer.—Com. 1474, fol., without place or printer's name, but probably printed at Treves.—Com. Jo. de Rheno. Vicent. 1475, 4to. — Com. Without place or printer, 1475, fol. An edition of which little is known.—Com. Treviso. 1477, fol. Printed by Hermanus Levilapis. Contains the Commenta- p ries of Donatus and Calphurnius, and is rather an elegantly printed edition.—Com. Zarotus Mediol. 1476, 1477, fol.—Com. Printed in the Sortensian Monastery, without date, fol. Probably printed in 1478.—Com. Taurini. 1478, fol.—Com. ex Dianæ recens. Ven. 1479, fol.— Com. Printed by Nicolas Girardengus. Ven. 1479, fol.; containing the Commentaries of Donatus and Calphurnius. The typography of the work is elegantly executed.—Com. Ven. 1480 et 1483, fol.—Com. Mediol. Zarotus. 1481, fol.—Com. Printed by Genexius del Cerro. Parm. 1481, fol.—Com. Rom. 1482, 4to.—Com. cum Interpretatione Guidonis Juvenalis. Printed by Badius Ascensius. Lyons, 1493, 4to. This edition q is rendered valuable from the numerous, and in general well-executed cuts which it contains. — Com. cum Directorio, Glossa, et Commentariis. Printed by Gruninger. Strasbourg, 1496, fol. This very valuable edition is amply illustrated with cuts of considerable merit, though perhaps rather inferior to those of the Lyons edition of 1493.—Com. Par. in vico S. Jacobi, sine anni indicio. An edition probably of the 15th century.—Com. cum Notis. Argent. 1499, fol.—Com. cum Comment. et Fig. Argent. 1503.—Com. cum Comment. Ascensii. Venundantur Londonie in edibus Winandi de Worde, &c. Par. 1504, fol.—

Com. cum Notis Guidonis Juvenalis et Badii Ascensii. 1504, 4to.—
r Com. a Ben. Philologo. Florent. Junt. 1505, 8vo.—Com. 1506, fol.—Com. cum Commentar. Venet. Lazar. de Soardis, 1508 et 1515, fol. Both excellent editions.—Com. cum L. Victoris Fausti de Comœdia, Libello. Ven. Laz. Soard. 1511, 8vo.—Com. Ven. 1512, fol.; containing five Commentaries, and many curious wooden cuts. — Com. ex recognit. Franc. Asulani. Ven. Ald. 1517, 1521, 1541, 1545, 1553. Cum Not. Mureti. 1555, 1558. These two editions of Muretus form the basis of many of those which succeed them. With the Commentaries of V. Cordatus. 1559, 1560, 1563, 1566, 1570. They were again printed by Aldus, with the Scholia of Muretus in 1575.—Com. cum Commens tar. varior. Tusculani, Alex. Paganin. 1526, 4to.—Com. a R. Stephano. 1529, 1552, fol. 1536, 1541, 4to. These editions contain the Commentaries of Donatus. They were reprinted without the Commentaries. 1532, 1533, and 1545, 8vo. The folio edition of 1552 is certainly the most valuable of those printed by Stephen; for, besides the Commentaries of Donatus and Calphurnius, it contains some Notes of Melancthon, Erasmus, Scaliger, and others. The first edition of 1529, and the quarto one of 1541 are most sought after.—Com. cum D. Erasmi castigat. Bas. 1534, 8vo. Par. 1536, fol.—Com. ex recens. Steph. Doleti. Lugd. 1540 et 1543, 8vo.—Com. Par. Colin. 1541 et 1544, 16mo.—
t Com. Erasmi. Ven. 1544, fol.—Com. Lut. apud Vascos. 1551, 4to.—Com. apud Joan. Mar. Bonellum. Ven. 1561, fol.; with many curious wood cuts.—Com. ex recens. Mureti, a Theod. Pulmanno. Ant. 1565 et 1583. These are printed by Plantin; the first is elegant and correct.—Com. a Faerno. Flor. Junta. 1565, 2 vols. 8vo. This edition must be considered as more valuable than any which precedes it; it is the one upon which all future ones are chiefly founded.—Com. a Matt. Bergio. Lips. 1574, 8vo.—Com. cum Comment. a Joan. Fabrino. Ven. 1580, 4to.—Com. a Frid. Lindenbrogio. Par. 1602. This edition was enlarged and improved, though not so elegantly executed, in the Franckfort edition of u 1623. 4to. The Paris edition is, however, more valued.—Com. Bas. 1616, 8vo.—Com. a Dan. Heinsio. Amst. 1618, 8vo.—Com. a J. P. Paræo. Neap. Ven. 1619, 4to. Franck. 1623, 4to. The first of these editions is very rare, and has been counterfeited. The genuine copy may be known by an error in the paging, 108 for 104, which is corrected in the other.—Com. Par. Typ. Reg. 1642, fol. A very beautifully executed work.—Com. cum Comm. Varior. Lug. Bat. 1644, 1651, 1657, 1662, 1669, 8vo. Amst. 1686, 8vo. The first three of these editions were com-v piled by Schrevelius. The Amsterdam one is the most valuable.—Com. a Jack. Kockerto. Lubec. 1651, 1657, 8vo.—Com. cum adnotat. Th. Farnabii et Mer. Casauboni. Amst. 1669, 12mo. Often reprinted at London.—Com. a Mart. Hugenio. Amst. 1710, 8vo. An excellent edition.—Com. ab Anna Daciera, Lat. et Gall. Rotterd. 1717, 3 vols. 8vo. — Com. a Hoogstratano. Amst. 1718, 12mo.—Com. a Westerhovio. Hag. Com. 1726, 2 vols. 4to. An edition of great labour and research. It is even w considered by some as the best edition of Terence. It was reprinted in an abridged form, Hag. Com. 1732, 1745, 8vo. — Com. ex MS. Cod. Vaticano, cum Person. et Personarum Larvis, Lat et Ital. Urbini, 1736. Rom. 1767, fol. Splendid editions, especially the last.—Com. Par. 1753, 2 vols. 8vo. An elegant edition.—Com. ex recens. Lindenbrogii, a Joan. Car. Zeunio. Lips. 1774, 2 vols. 8vo. An excellent edition on miserable paper and typography.—Com. Bipont, 1779, 8vo. One of the earliest of the Bipont classics, and although not so elegant, is an edition of great utility. It was reprinted, 1786, 8vo.—Com. cum Notis Westerhovii et aliorum, a Gud. Magnæo. Hafn. 1788, 8vo.—Com.

THUANUS, James Augustus de. See Thou.

THUCYDIDES, an ancient Greek Historian, was born at Athens in the second year of the 77th Olympiad, or before Christ 469. When the war between the Athenians and Lacedemonians broke out, he conjectured truly that it would prove worthy of a history; and it no sooner commenced, than he began to keep a journal of the events or circumstances as they happened under his eye, or came to his knowledge. This he brought g down to the twenty-first year of the war: The remaining six years were supplied by Theopompus and Xenophon.——HIST.—Historiæ. Latine. Without name of printer, place or date, folio. This is an edition of the 15th century.—Hist. Græce. Ven. ap. Ald. 1502, fol. The first Greek edition. It is a beautiful book, and has two Lives of the Historian. In 1503 Aldus published the ancient Greek Scholia, along with the Scholia Historica of Xenophon and Herodian.—Hist. cum Scholiis, ab Ant. Francino, Gr. Florent. ap. Junt. 1526, fol. Some bibliographers speak of editions by the Juntæ of 1506 and 1556, but they are more than probably h supposititious.—Hist. cum Scholiis, a Joach. Camerario, Gr. Bas. 1540, fol. This is a good edition. It was compiled by Hervagius, the printer, but superintended and corrected by Camerarius, from certain MSS. of the 13th and 14th centuries.—Hist. cum Scholiis, Gr. et Lat. Henr. Steph. Par. 1564, 1588, fol. These are both beautiful and correct editions, but the second is the best. The Latin Version is Valla's.—Hist. ab Æmil. Porto, Gr. et Lat. Franc. 1594, fol. Rather incorrectly printed, but with some useful Commentaries, and an excellent Index.—Hist. a Joan. Hudson, Gr. et Lat. cum Schol. Oxon. 1696, fol. A beautiful and valuable production. The Latin Version is Portus's, amended by the Edi- i tor, and the Greek text is on the basis of Stephen's second edition.—Hist. a Car. And. Dukero et Wassio, Gr. et Lat. Amst. 1731, fol. The best edition.—Hist. Gr. et Lat. ex edit. Wasse et Dukeri. Glasg. 1758-59, 8 vols. 12mo. A beautiful and accurate re-impression of the edit. opt. Copies of it are now scarce and dear.—Hist. ex editione Dukeri, a F. C. Alter, Gr. Vien. 1785, 2 vols. 8vo.—Hist. Gr. et Lat. cum variet. Lect. Annotat. et Indice. Bipont. 1788-9, 6 vols. 8vo. This is chiefly a reprint of Duker's edition, with, however, some additions and emendations. It is held in considerable repute.—Hist. Gr. et Lat. Scholiis Græc. var. Lect. Indice, et Not. Stephani, textum recensuit var. Lect. et Codd. et j suas Notas add. Gottleburus et Bauerus. Lips. 1790-1804, 2 vols. 4to. A good edition, but wretchedly printed.—Hist. Gr. et Lat. ex edit. Bipont. illustrat. et emendat. a J. H. Kistemaker. Monast. 1791, 8vo. —Hist. Gr. et Lat. ad opt. edit. in usum Scholar. Brem. 1791-92, 2 vols. 8vo.—Hist. Gr. et Lat. Edinb. 1803-6, 6 vols. 12mo. This is an extremely accurate and commodious edition, said to be edited by the Rev. Peter Elmsley. The first volume contains the Life of Thucydides, by Marcellinus, in Greek; the Latin version is Hudson's; and the last volume has a copious and useful Index. The type and paper are excellent.——Eng. Trans.—The Hystory writtone by Thucidides the Athe- k nyan, of the Warre whiche was betwene the Peloponesians and the Athenyans; translated oute of Frenche into the Englysh language, by Thomas Nicolls, Citezeine and Goldesmyth of London. 1555, fol.—The History of the Grecian War, in eight Books, written by Thucydides; translated by Thomas Hobbes; with maps. Lond. 1628, 1534, 1676, fol. Lond. 1723, 2 vols. 8vo. A well-executed translation.—History, translated by Wm. Smith, M.A. Lond. 1753, 2 vols. 4to. Fourth edition, with the Life of the Translator. Lond. 1805, 2 vols. 8vo. An excellent translation; to which are prefixed, A Life of Thucydides, and a Survey of his History, with Notes and Maps of Ancient Greece and Sicily.—Thucydi- l des's Account of the Plague of Athens; translated by Fras. Clifton, M.D. in his Hippocrates. Lond. 1734, 8vo.—Two Orations in Praise of Athenians slain in Battle, from the Greek; with Reflections. Lond. 1759, 8vo. TIBULLUS, Albius, a Latin Elegiac Poet, is supposed to have been
w born at Rome, in the year of the City 690, six years after the birth of Virgil, and one after that of Horace; died at the age of forty-four. The Elegies of Tibullus have been usually printed along with Catullus and Propertius; and will be found under the former. Two or three distinct editions of Tibullus remain to be noticed.—Elegiæ. Without place or date, 4to. This is the first separate impression of the Poet; and its rarity is equal to its beauty. It is supposed to have been printed by Florentius de Argentina.—Elegiæ, cum Commentariis Berardini Veronensis. Rome, printed by Laver, 1475, 4to.—Elegiæ. Lugd. 1544, 8vo. TYTLER, James, M. A., an extraordinary genius and singular character, was born at Brechin, in the county of Forfar, Scotland, 1747; died in America, 1805. His versatility and power of talent appear conspicuous from the number and variety of Works which have issued from his pen. Of these, however, it is almost impossible to give a correct list, as f many are anonymous, and as no biography of Tytler is to be found in those works where it might be expected.—His first publication was entitled, Essays on the most important Subjects of Natural and Revealed Religion. Edinb. 1772, 8vo. This was printed by the Author himself, at a small press of his own erecting, within the Sanctuary of Holyroodhouse, where he had taken refuge from the arrests of creditors. It has also the peculiar circumstance of being printed without a manuscript, the types being put up by the Author himself from his own ideas, without notes or manuscript of any kind before him.—Letter to Mr. John Barclay on the Doctrine of Assurance. In this Tytler again performed the functions of Au- g thor, Compositor, and Pressman.—The Weekly Mirror; a Periodical Publication, begun in 1780.—The Observer; a Weekly Paper, comprehending a series of Essays, published at Glasgow in 1786, and extending to 26 numbers, folio. Of these the first number was the only one literally penned by this astonishing man. The rest were printed by him, without manuscript, according to his usual practice.—A System of Geography. 1788, 8vo.—A History of Edinburgh. 12mo. — A Geographical, Historical, and Commercial Grammar. 2 vols. 8vo. — A Review of Dritchken's Theory of Inflammation; with a practical dedication. 12mo.—Remarks on Mr. Pinkerton's Introduction to the History of Scotland. 8vo.—A h Poetical Translation of Virgil's Eclogues. 4to.—A Pamphlet on the Excise.—The Historical Register; a Periodical Publication.—The Gentleman and Lady's Magazine; published monthly. — And the Weekly Review; a Literary Miscellany, both soon abandoned.—To the above list of Tytler's Works, which is far from being complete, we have to add, that he was the principal editor of the second edition of the Encyclopædia Britannica, in which he wrote many of the scientific treatises and histories, and almost all the minor articles. He had also the sole merit of projecting and executing the original Encyclopædia, published in 3 vols. 4to. by C. M'Farquhar. — Numerous articles of his are likewise scattered in i various periodical works of the day; such as, "The Edinburgh Magazine," published fortnightly; "The Edinburgh Eight-day Magazine;" and a Newspaper called "The Evening Post." In the first of these he attacked, with exquisite humour, the physical doctrines of Cullen and Monro, under the signature of Don Quixote Jun.—Tytler was also a Poet, and wrote, among other things, a ballad, entitled, "The Pleasures of the Abbey," (Holyrood.)

TYTLER, Patrick Fraser, Son of Lord Woodhouselee.—Life of James Crichton of Clunie, called the Admirable Crichton. Edin. 1819, 8vo. 10s. 6d.

Edin. 1759, 1767, 8vo. Third edit. with Additions, and a Postscript. Edin. 1772, 8vo. 4th edit. Lond. 1790, 2 vols. 8vo. With large additions.—The Poetical Remains of James I. k of Scotland: consisting of the King's Quair, in six Cantos, and Christ's Kirk on the Green: to which is prefixed, a Dissertation on the Life and Writings of King James. Edin. 1783, 8vo.—A Dissertation on Scottish Music, first subjoined to Arnot's History of Edinburgh.—A Dissertation on the Marriage of Queen Mary to the Earl of Bothwell. Printed in the Transactions of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, vol. i. 1791.—Observations in the Transactions of the Society of Antiquaries on the Vision; a Poem; first published in Ramsay's Evergreen. This may be considered as a part of the literary history of Scotland. — On the Fashionable Amusements in Edinburgh during the last century. Ib.—He l also contributed NO. 16. to "The Lounger."—Memoir of Tytler by Mr. Mackenzie. Trans. Soc. Edin. vol. iv.

TZETZES, John, an accomplished Grammarian of Constantinople, who died about the end of the twelfth century. He wrote,—Chiliades, or Miscellaneous Histories in verse. VERGER, de Haurane John du, Abbot of St. Cyran, a noted Controversial Writer of the seventeenth century, was born at Bayonne in 1581; died at Paris 1643. His Writings are,—Lettres Spirituelles. 2 vols. 4to. or 8vo. Reprinted at Lyons, 1679, 3 vols. 12mo. To which a fourth has been added, containing several small Tracts.—Question Royale. 1609, 12mo. In this is examined in what extremity a subject might be obliged to save the life of his prince at the expense of his own.—L'Aumône Chrêtienne, ou Tradition de l'Eglise touchant la Charité envers les Pauvres. 2 vols. 12mo. The second part of this work, in which M. Anthony le l Maitre had a great share, is entitled, L'Aumône Ecclesiastique.—Petrus Aurelius. This is a Defence of the Ecclesiastical Hierarchy against the Jesuits. It was first printed between 1632 and 1635, and afterwards in 1642 and 1646.

VERGER, S. du.—Admirable Events, selected ovt of fovr Bookes; written in French by the Right Reverand John Peter Camus, Bishop of Belley; together with Moral Relations; written by the same Author, and translated into English. Lond. 1639, 4to.

VERGERIUS, Peter Paul, a learned Writer of the fourteenth century, was born at Justinapolis, now Capo d'Istria, 1349; died about 1431. m He wrote a Treatise,—De Ingenuis Moribus, which became a very popular school-book, and was printed with others of the same kind, first about 1472, afterwards at Milan in 1474 and 1477, 4to. Ven. 1502, and Bas. 1541.—He also wrote, A History of the Princes of Carrara, which is inserted in the "Thesaur. Antiq. Ital." vol. vi. part iii., published at Leyden, and in Muratori's Collection, vol. xvi., published at Milan, 1730.—A Life of Petrarch, annexed to Thomasini's "Petrarcha Redivivus;"—An Eulogium on St. Jerome;—And a Treatise, De Republica Veneta, published at Rome in 1526.

VERGERIUS, Peter Paul, usually called The Younger, was born n at Justinapolis, of the same family as the preceding; died at Tubingen 1566.—He wrote a great many small Treatises in Latin and Italian, against Popery and Popish Writers, all of rare occurrence, owing to their having been suppressed or strictly prohibited. A Collection of them was begun to be printed at Tubingen in 1563, 4to., but one volume only appeared.

VERGERIUS, Paul.—Royal Cuckold, or Great Bastard; a Tragi-Comedy; translated from the German language. Lond. 1693, 4to.

VERGIL, Polydore, an Author of the sixteenth century, was born at Urbino in Italy; came to England in the retinue of Cardinal Corneto, to o collect the Papal tribute called Peter-pence, where he recommended himself so well, that having obtained several church preferments, particularly the Archdeaconry of Wells, he resolved to remain; died in 1555.—Proverbiorum Libellus. 1498. Second edition. Venice, printed by Christopher de Pensis, 1500, 4to. This work is the first of its kind. The two editions specified are both very rare.—De Rerum Inventoribus. 1499. Lond. 1517. Adagia, et de Rerum Inventoribus. Bas. 1522, fol. Bas. 1525, fol. Bas. 1536, 12mo. Genev. 1609, 12mo. Amst. 1671, 12mo. Ital. da Pietro Lauro. Ven. 1543, 1550, 8vo. In English, abridged, by T. Of this Translation Gawin Douglas gives the following nervous, and, we believe, just character:

"Thoch Wylliame Caxtoun had no compatioun
Of Virgil in that buk he prent in prois, Clepand it Virgill in Eneados;
Quhilk that he sayis of Frensche he did translait,
It has nathing ado therwith, God wate,
Nor na mare like than the deuil and Sainct Austin;
Have he na thank tharfore, bot los his pyne;
So schamefully the storie did perverte,
I reid his werk with harmes at my hert:
His buk is na mare like Virgil, dar I say,
Than the nygt oule resemblis the papingay."

—The xiii. Bukes of Eneados of the famous Poete Virgill, translatet out of Latyne Verses into Scottish Metir, by the Reverend Father in God, Mayster Gawin Douglas, Bishop of Dunkel, and Unkil to the Erle of Angus. Every buke hauing hys particular prologue. Imprinted at London, 1553, 4to. "This translation," says Warton, "is executed with equal spirit and fidelity; and is a proof, that the Lowland Scotch and English Languages were now (in the year 1513) nearly the same. The m several books are introduced with metrical prologues, which are often highly poetical; and shew that Douglas's proper walk was original poetry." The second edition is entitled, Virgil's Æneis, translated into Scottish Verse, by the famous Gawin Douglas, Bishop of Dunkeld. A new edition, wherein the many errors of the former are corrected, and the defects supplied from an excellent manuscript: to which is added, a large Glossary, which may serve for a Dictionary to the old Scottish Language; and to the whole is prefixed, an exact Account of the Author's Life and Writings, from the best Histories and Records. Edin. 1710, fol. The excellent Glossary annexed to this edition was compiled by the learned Ruddi- n man, and the Life of Douglas was written by the Rev. Lond. 1753, 8vo. This Work contains a metrical translation of the Bucolics and Georgics, by Joseph Warton, and a similar translation of the Æneid, by Christopher Pitt. The Copperplates are ill executed; it was reprinted, Lond. 1778, 4 vols. 8vo.—Opera. Edin. Hamilton, 1755, 2 vols. 12mo. This edition, though not immaculate, is one of the most correct editions of Virgil ever published.—Opera. Birming. Baskerville, 1757, 4to. Considered as one of the most elegant and finished productions of the typographical art. It was counterfeited, but the true t edition may be known from the spurious one by having the title of the fourth Eclogue, Pollio, printed irregularly, and page 224, marked 424. It was reprinted in 1766, 12mo., and although as beautiful as the quarto edition, is considered to be most incorrect.—Opera. Glasg. ap. Foulis, 1758, 12mo. A correct and beautiful edition from the text of Burman. Reprinted 1778, fol. This large edition is principally sought after.—Opera, a C. G. Containing the text of Heyne, with several of his Notes, and illustrated by a selection of parallel u passages from Writers of Antiquity, esteemed for its beauty and correctness.—Opera. Lond. Wakefieldi, 1796, 2 vols. 12mo. Executed with great neatness; it forms a companion for the same editor's edition of Horace.—Opera, edit. Hunter. Andreap. 1799, 2 vols. 12mo. Said to be immaculate; it is formed from the text on the second edition of Heyne. The Preface affords an excellent specimen of the critical acuteness of the learned editor. It has no Notes.—Opera. Lond. Dulan, 1800, 2 vols. 8vo. Printed by Bensley. A most magnificent edition, decorated with fifteen Engravings; it is supposed to be free of errors.——Foreign Edit. — Opera. Rome, printed by Sweynheym and Pannartz, without v date, fol. Editio princeps. This contains some minor Poems, but they have been printed after the Work itself, and are not necessary to render the volume complete. It is the first edition of a Latin Poet printed by Sweynheym and Pannartz, and is supposed to have been printed in 1469. —Opera. Supposed to have been printed by Mentelin at Strasbourg, without date, fol. An extremely rare edition, very probably executed about 1470.—Opera. Venice, printed by Vindelin de Spira, 1470, fol. This is different from the former, and contains the Opuscula and the Priapeia.—Opera absque loci et typographi indicio. 1471, fol.—Opera. Venet. Valdarfer, 1471, fol. The Commentaries of Servius were first inserted in this edition. In the same year Valdarfer published another edition of Servius's Commentaries, edited by Carbo.—Opera, absque loci et typographi indicio. 1471, fol. This contains the thirteenth book of the Æneid, and the various Opuscula attrix buted to Virgil.—Opera. Florent. Cenninus, 1471-2, fol. At the end of the Æneid is Libellus Servii de Natura Syllabarum ad Aquilinum. According to Mr. Roscoe, this is the first Work which was ever printed at Florence. —Opera. Venice, Leonard Achates, 1472, fol. This edition is of great rarity and considerable intrinsic value. Reprinted in 1473.—Opera. Venet. Barth. Cremonens. 1472, fol. A beautiful and exceedingly rare impression, and besides the greater Poems contains a variety of Opuscula attributed to Virgil. One edition seems a copy of the other, but it is uncertain which is entitled to precedence, but there is an exact conformity, line for line, with the previous impression.—Opera, absque loci et typogr.

i 1625, 32mo. This last edition is a very remarkable one, the characters are very small and beautiful.—Opera, cum Comment. Servii, cumque Junii Philargyrii Commentariolo in Bucolica et Georgica. Paris, Nivelle, 1600, fol. Edited by P. Daniel, containing the best edition of Servius's Commentary. — Opera, ex antiquissimo MS. Palatino. Commel. 1603, 8vo.—Opera, cum Symbolis J. Pontani. Lugd. 1604, fol.—Opera. Salam. 1610.—Opera, a Jo. Lud. de la Cerda. Lugd. Bat. 1612-19, 3 vols. fol. The first volume is dated 1619, the second 1612, and the third 1617. A pretty good edition.—Opera, cum Notis Variorum, curante Jo. a Meyen. Franc. 1616, 8vo.—Opera, a Frid. Taubmanno. Franc.
j 1618, 4to. — The Comments of Taubman are much esteemed.— Opera, cum Servii Comment. Col. All. 1620, 4to.—Opera. Lugd. Bat. 1622 12mo.—Opera, a Dan. Heinsio. Lugd. Bat. Elzev. 1636, 12mo. This is one of the scarcest of the Elzevir editions, but of very little intrinsic worth. It has been counterfeited, but the genuine edition may easily be known from the spurious, as at page 1. of the Eclogues, and page 91. before first book of the Æneid, it has two passages in red characters, but in the counterfeit these are in black.—Opera, cum Indice et Scholiis Nic. Erythræi. Ven. 1638, 8vo.—Opera. Par. Typ. Reg. 1641, fol.—Opera, a Nic. Heinsio. Lugd. Bat. Elzev. 1644, 12mo. Amst. 1676, 1680, et 1724, et Lugd. Bat. 1676. A pretty correct and valuable edition.—Opera, k a G. Valkenario, cum Comment. veter. omnium. Lugd. Bat. 1646, 4to. —Opera, a Corn. Schrevelio, cum Notis Var. Amst. 1646 et 1652, 4to. With a Life of the Poet attributed to Donatus.—Opera, cum Notis Variorum. Lugd. Bat. Hackius, 1652, 1657, 1661, 1666. The edit. of 1657 is severely censured by Heyne. The 1661 edit. is preferable both as to accuracy and beauty.—Opera, N. Heinsii. Amst. Elzevir. 1664, 1671, 1676. Nicholas Heinsius devoted thirty years to the emendation of the Text of Virgil from the collection of a great number of ancient MSS.: the above are excellent editions; that of 1676 is universally allowed to be the most correct and ample.—Opera, a Car. Ruceo, in usum Delph. Paris, l 1675, 1682, 4to. Amst. 1690, et Par. 1723, et 1726. The second of these excellent editions is generally allowed to be the best.—Opera, Emmenessii. Lugd. Bat. Elzevir, 1680, 3 vols. 8vo. The best Variorum edition. The compilation was begun by Emmenessius, but completed by Masvicius. The Text is taken from the Elzevir edition of 1676. The Erythræan Index from the Venetian edition of 1566. Executed in a beautiful type, and accompanied with elegant Vignettes.—Opera, a Pancratio Masvicio. Leov. 1717, 4to. A magnificent edition, formed in a great measure according to the Codex Regius. It is held in pretty high estimation.—Opera. Par. Barbou in usum Delph. 1726, 4to. 1726, 2 vols. m 12mo. Best edition.—Opera, a Franc. Catrou. Lat. et Gall. Par. 1729, 4 vols. 8vo. — Opera, a Fratris Vulpiis. Patav. 1738, 8vo.—Opera, ex Codice Mediceo-Laurentiano, a Rufo Aproniano V. C. descripto, typis capitalibus impressa. Florent. Mannius, 1741, 4to. A facsimile of the famous Codex Mediceus.—Opera. Romæ. P. Marmoreus, 1741, fol. This Work is a fac-simile of the famous Codex Vaticanus, containing various Fragments, Pictures, &c. The very learned and interesting Life prefixed to it is the composition of Bottarius.—Opera, a Steph. Andr. Philippe. Lutet. par Coustelier. 1745, 3 vols. 12mo. The Text of this edition is according to that of Emmenessius and Masvicius. It is ve- n ry beautifully executed. Reprinted in 1754, 3 vols. 12mo.; and 1757, 2 vols. 12mo. by Barbou. Esteemed much higher by many. — Opera, a Burmannis seniore et juniore. Amst. Wetstein. 1746, 4 vols. 4to. This edition contains the entire and amended Commentaries of Servius Philargyrius and Pierius; with some Notes of Fulvius Ursinus, George Fabricius, F. Nansius, Musonius Tanaquil, Faber and N. Heinsius, which latter are published for the first time: it has likewise Indexes. An abridged edition was published 1774, 12 vols. 8vo. — Opera, ab Henr. Justice ex antiquis Monumentis, Tabulis æneis impressa, cum figuris elegantissimis. Trajecti, sine anno, sed 1757-65, 5 vols. 8vo. o —Opera, ex Codice Mediceo-Laurentiano descripta, ab Antonio Ambrogi, Florentino, S.J. Italico versu reddita, annotationibus atque variantibus Lectionibus, et antiquissimi Codicis Vaticani picturis pluribusque aliis veterum monumentis ære incisis, et cl. Virorum Dissertationibus illustrata. Romæ, J. Zempel, 1763-65, 3 vols. fol. A more splendid than useful edition.—Opera, Abrami Rhotomag. 1765, 12mo. A very useful edition for the young Student.—Opera, a C. G. Heyne. Lipsw. 1767-88, 4 vols. 8vo. Lond. 1793, 4 vols. 8vo. Lipsw. 1800, 6 vols. 8vo. These editions are not to be equalled by any former one. The Lipswic edition of 1800 is the last and best edition, adorned with a great variety of Plates p and Vignettes.—Opera. Parmæ, typis Bodonianis, 1779, 12mo. A beautiful edition.—Opera, a Jac. Baden. Haun. 1780, 2 vols. 8vo.—Opera. Bipont. 1783, 2 vols. 8vo. A pretty useful edition.—Opera, a Ric. Franc. et Phil. Brunck. Argent. 1785, 4to. 1789, 4to. These two impressions are beautifully executed, and present the Text of the Poet, compiled with great care and accuracy, in which the ancient orthography and true reading are endeavoured to be restored.—Opera. Parm. typis Bodonian. 1793, 2 vols. fol. One of the most beautiful editions that have issued from Bodoni's press, and pretty accurate. An octavo edition was published in 1794, 2 vols. Also much esteemed.—Opera. Paris, in ædibus Palatiniis, Didot. 1798, fol. A most magnificent Work, forms a companion to q the Horace of 1799, contains twenty-three most beautiful engraved Plates, and the typography and paper are excellent.—English Translations.—Works in English Verse, with Annotations by J. Ogilby. Lond. 1649, 8vo. And adorned with Sculptures, and illustrated with Annotations. Lond. 1654, fol. Lond. 1658, fol. Lond. 1668, fol. Lond. 1675, 1685, 8vo. A pretty faithful translation. The Works of Virgil; containing his Pastorals, Georgics, and Æneis, translated into English Verse, by John Dryden, adorned with one hundred Sculptures. Lond. 1697, 1709, fol. Third edition, 1709, 8vo. Fourth edition, 1716, 3 vols. 8vo. With a- r bove one hundred Plates, which are inferior to those in the third edition. Fifth edition, 1721, 12mo. Sixth edit. 1730, 3 vols. 12mo. Plates. Often reprinted. John Carey published a new edition, revised and corrected. Lond. 1806, 3 vols. 8vo. Dr. Carey has done much to restore the Text to its original purity, and particularly in the punctuation, which in most former impressions was very defective and incorrect. There are in this edition a few good cuts.—The Works of Virgil, translated into English Verse, with copious explanatory Notes, &c., by Jos. Trappe, D.D. Lond. 1731, 1735, 3 vols. 12mo. VONDEL, Justus, or Josse du, a celebrated Dutch Poet, was born in 1587; died 1679. The most esteemed of his Pieces are,—The Park of Animals.—The Heroes of God.—The Destruction of Jerusalem; a Trac gedy.—The Grandeur of Solomon.—And, Palamede; or, Innocence oppressed; a Tragedy.—He wrote also, Satires against the Protestant Ministers;—and a Poem in favour of the Catholic Church, entitled, "The Mysteries, or the Secrets of the Altar."

VOORST, John Van. See Van-Voorst.

VOPISCUS, Flavius, one of those Latin Historians usually denominated 'Historiæ Augustæ Scriptores,' was a native of Syracuse, and lived in the time of Dioclesian and Constantine, about the beginning of the fourth century.—Romanorum aliquot Imperatorum Historiæ. Inter Script. Romanæ Hist. &c.

d VORAGINE, James de, a Dominican Friar, born at Voragine, in the state of Genoa, about 1230; died 1298.—He left a Chronicle of Genoa, published in vol. xxvi. of the Collection of the Italian Authors by Muratori; —and a great many Sermons, 1589, and 1602, 2 vols. 8vo.—But the Work by which he is best known is the following: Historia Lombardica, seu Legenda Aurea. Cologne, 1470, fol. Editio princeps. Scarce. Reprinted at Paris, by Gering, Crantz, and Friburger, 1475, fol. Davent. per Rich. Paffraed de Colon. 1479, fol. Lugd. 1509, 1526, fol. Translated into Italian. Venice, 1476, fol.; and into French, by John Batallier, Lyons, 1476, fol. For English Versions, see Caxton, and Wynkyn de e Worde.

VORSTIUS, Conrade, an able Divine, claimed by the Arminians, was born at Cologne, 1569; died 1622. His Works are almost all controversial, and do not require to be particularly specified. The most important are,—De Deo, sive de Natura et Attributis Dei. Steinfurt. 1606 et 1610, 4to. King James I. drew up, with his own hand, a Catalogue of the several Heresies he had found in this Work, and ordered it to be burnt at London, and the two English Universities.—Apologia pro Ecclesiis Orthodoxis, contra Jesuitarum Theses. Steinfurt. 1607, 8vo.—Theses de Persona et Officio Christi, cum ejusd. Thesibus de S. Trinitate.

VOSSIUS, Dionysius, was born at Dort, and wrote, among other small things,—Maimonides de Idololatria, cum Latina Versione et Notis; and some Notes upon Cæsar's Commentaries, to be found in the edition of Grævius, at Amsterdam, in 1697.

VOSSIUS, Francis.—Carmen de Hollandorum Victoria Navali, ductu Mart. Herib. Trompii. Amst. 1640.

g VOSSIUS, Isaac, a man of great parts and learning, but unhappily of a strange and mixed character, was born at Leyden in 1618; died at Windsor, of which place he was Canon, in 1688. His productions are allowed to be neither so useful nor so numerous as his father's. The following list, however, will shew, that on the score of number, no reasonable complaint can be made:—Periplus Scylacis Caryandensis et Anonymi Periplus Ponti Euxini, Græce et Latine, cum Notis. Amst. 1639, 4to. —Justin, with Notes. Leyd. 1640, 12mo.—Ignatii Epistolæ, et Barnabæ Epistola, Græce et Latine, cum Notis. Amst. 1646, 4to.—Pompo-h nius Mela de Situ Orbis, cum Observationibus. Hag. Com. 1648, 4to. —Dissertatio de Vera Ætate Mundi. Hag. Com. 1659, 1661, 4to. In this Dissertation it is attempted to establish the Chronology of the Septuagint upon the ruin of that of the Hebrew Text. It was attacked by many authors, and particularly by Hornius, to whom Vossius replied in,—Castigationes ad Scriptum Hornii de Ætate Mundi. Hag. Com. 1659, 4to. Hornius defended what he had written, and Vossius replied to him again in—Auctarium Castigationem, &c. 1659, 4to. Hornius, however, was neither convinced nor silenced, but published another piece, still in the same year, to no purpose, except a bad one; for he not only brought Vos-
i sius's resentment down upon him, but also Father Perron's, in his book, entitled, 'L'Antiquité de Temps rétablie.' 1661. Vossius took this time, however, a wider survey of the subject, and published,—De Septuaginta Interpretibus, eorumque Translatione et Chronologia, Dissertationes;—and in 1663, Appendix ad hunc Librum, seu Responsiones ad Objecta variorum Theologorum, both in 4to. This finished the controversy. The other Publications of Vossius were,—De Lucis Natura et Proprietate. Amst. ap. Elzev. 1662, 4to. — De Motu Marium et Ventorum. Hag. Com. 1663, 4to. Translated into English by Archibald Lovel. Lond. 1677, 8vo.—De Nile et aliorum Fluminum Origine.— De Poëmatum

Cantu et Viribus Rythmi. Oxon. 1673, 8vo. (Anon.) In which he pre-j fers the ancient to the modern music.—De Sibyllinis aliisque, quæ Christi natalem præcessere, oraculis. Oxon. 1608. 4to. Oxon. 1629. Lond. 1684. — Variarum Observatt. Liber. Lond. 1685, 4to. ; containing the following Treatises : De Antiquæ Romæ, et aliarum quarundam urbium magnitudine : De Artibus et Scientiis Sinarum : De Origine et Progressu Pulveris Bellici apud Europæos : De Triremium et Liburnicarum constructione : De Emendatione Longitudinum : De patefacienda per Septentrionem ad Japonenses et Indos, Navigatione : De Apparentibus in Luna Circulis : Diurna Telluris conversione omnia gravia ad medium tendere.—Observationum ad Pomponium Melam Appendix ; accek dit ad tertias P. Simonii objectiones, responsio, &c. Lond. 1686, 4to.— An Inscription on the Ruins of a Pillar lately dug at Rome ; with an Interpretation. Phil. Trans. 1686, Abr. iii. p. 331.

VOSSIUS, Gerard-John, an able and very learned Writer, the father of all the preceding Vossii, was born in the neighbourhood of Heidelberg, in Germany, 1577 ; died 1649. He is the Author of a great many Works, which are generally considered of authority and accuracy. The following are the principal of them :—Oratoriarum Institutionum, Libri vi. Lugd. WORCESTER, Marquis of. See Somerset, Henry.

WORDE, Wynkyn de, next to Caxton one of the earliest and most distinguished English Printers, was a native of the Dukedom of Lorraine, and flourished in the beginning of the 16th century. He appears to have e printed the following Works: — Liber Festivalis, et Quatuor Sermones. The two first seem to be comprehended under certain Topics, by which we are instructed how to attain the Knowledge of God; as, the Articles of the Lord's Prayer, Creed and Commandments, and seven Sacraments, the seven Deeds of Mercy, the seven deadly Sins, and the nine Torments of Hell. The third Sermon, beginning p. 31. treats of the three parts of Penance, Contrition, Confession, and Satisfaction; and that which seems to be the last Sermon is called, the General Sentence, or Church Curses. These Sermons and the Festivalis are sometimes bound up as two distinct Works. The Festivalis consists of short Sermons or Discourses on the principal Feasts
f throughout the year, interlarded with Historical Narrative out of the Lelanda Aurea. Idem. Lond. 1493, 4to. Lond. 1496, 4to. Idem. Lond. 1499, 4to. The Festyuall, or Sermons on Sondays and Holidays, taken out of the Golden Legend. Lond. 1508, 4to. The same. 1528, 4to. Liber Festyuallis, with the Quatuor Sermones. To which is added, the Descrypcyon of Englonde, Walys, Scotlond, and Irelond; speaking of the noblesse and worthynesse of the same. Lond. 1497, fol. This Work is a compilation of several Authors. Numerous editions have been printed, some by Worde, others by Pynson and Notary. It has been styled by some St. Alban's Chronicles, from being supposed to have been first printed at St. Alban's, but upon no authority: by others, as stated in the last page of Pynson's edit., and in those by Grafton and Fox, it has been called Caxton's Chronicle.—The Descrypcyon of Englonde. An admirable edition. It is formed on a careful examination of former impressions, with a MS. in the Bodleian Library. It contains not only the Notes of the learned editor, but a revision of those of Muretus, Stephens, Leunclavius, and Portus. It has been republished with the notes and dissertations abridged, Lond. 1730, 1733, 1735, 1738, 1747, 1756, 1765, 1773, and 1782.—Cyrop. Glasg. Foulis, 1767, in 4 vols. 12mo. This is a reprint of Hutchinson's edition, with the omission of the dissertation and index of Oriental Phrases. It is a much esteemed impression, and pretty rare.—Cyrop. ex recens. Hutchinsoni. Gr. Oxon. 1772, 8vo. Very useful and correct. Leipsw. 1774, 1784, 8vo. With select notes from Hutchinson. Another edition was published at Leipsw. and Frankf. 1776.—Cyrop. Zeunii. Lips. 1780, 8vo. There is in this very excellent edition a new revision of the text of Xenophon, according to the Codex Guelpherbytanus; and it is likewise collated with various ancient editions and versions; with critical, historical, and grammatical notes, and an ample Index Græcitatis.—Cyrop. Gr. et Lat. Basil. 1790, 8vo.——Eng. Trans.—The Bookes of Xenophon; containiug the Discipline, Schole, and Education of Cyrus, the noble King of Persia; translated out of Greeke into Englyshe, by M. Victor. Flor. without date, 8vo.—Memor. Gr. et Lat. Bogardus, Paris, 1541, 4to. This edition has only two books of the Memorabilia, although the title page professes to give the four. It contains some excellent readings, and the Latin version is by Bessarion.—Memor. Gr. cura H. Aldrich. Oxon. 1690, 8vo. Containing an old Latin translation. —Memor. Gr. et Lat. cum var. lect. stud. Edv. Wells. Oxon. 1690, 1700, et 1726, 8vo.—Memor. Gr. et Lat. cum Notis varior. a Joan. Gillman. Lond. Bowyer, 1720, 8vo. Containing likewise the Apologia Socratis.—Memor. a Jo. Aug. Ernesto. Lips. 1737, 1742, 1755, 1763, 1772, 8vo. The last of these editions is the best, as being formed on an ancient MS. of his, and likewise contains the excellent observations of Ruhnkenius and Valckenaer, with the conjectures of Reiske. It is executed on rather indifferent paper. The Greek text was reprinted with some various readings, by Stroth. Gothæ, 1780, 8vo. By C. G. Schutz, Gr. Halæ, 1780, et 1793, 8vo. With an accurate text and concise annotations.—Memor. Gr. et Lat. cum Notis integris Ernesti et alior. a Boltone Simpson. Oxon. 1741, 1749, 1759, 1772, 1780, et 1788. The two first of these editions is esteemed the most accurate and valuable. The edit. of 1780 contains several notes and conjectures by an anonymous critic.—Memor. a Jo. Aug. Ernesto, cum Animad. Ruhnkenii et Valkenarii, Gr. Lips. 1772, 8vo. Of this excellent edition some copies are to be found with an altered title-page. Leidæ, 1772. Ernesti first published his illustrations on this Work, Lipsw. 1738, 8vo. Gr.—Memor. Gr. Zeunii, Lips. 1781, 8vo. An admirable edition, containing some observations of Ernesti, Ruhnkenius, Valckenaer, and Hindenburgius, as well as those of Zennius himself.—Memor. Gr. et Lat. Oxon. 1785, 8vo. The various readings of this valuable Work are extracted from eleven different MSS. from the Vatican, Mediceän, and Parisian Libraries. The preface is written by Dr. Owen, on account of the death of the Professor before the completion of the work.—Memor. a F. H. Stroth, Gr. Goth. 1788 et 1797, 8vo.—Memor. Gr. et Lat. Bas. 1789, 8vo.—Memor. Schneideri, Gr. Lips. 1790, 8vo. A truly excellent edition, containing several short notes of Ernesti, Zeunius, and Edwards, and likewise those of Schneider himself.—Memor. Oxon. 1804, 2 vols. 8vo. Gr. et Lat. A valuable and elegant edition; contains a new version, several notes, and various readings, as far as the sixth chapter by Mr. Benwell; the remainder is from Schneider's edition. ——Eng. e natica, a Jo. Car. Zeunio, Gr. Lipsw. 1778, 8vo. An admirable work. —Opusc. quædam. Gr. 8vo. —— OPERA. — Opera, Gr. Florent. Phil. Junta. 1516, fol. Editio princeps. This edition is faithfully printed from an ancient but very incorrect MS. and is full of typographical errors and interpolations. It is sometimes, however, of great critical utility, and the foundation of various subsequent editions.—Opera, a Franc. Anslano. Gr. Ven. Aldus, 1525, fol. Better in every respect than the preceding. It appears to have been executed from a purer MS.—Opera, Gr. Hal. Suev. 1540, 3 vols. 8vo. A very inaccurate impression, though now very rare.—Opera, a Sebast. Castalione, Gr. Bas. Isingrin, 1540, 2 vols. 8vo.
f A pretty accurate edition; was the first revision of the text of Xenophon published in Germany.—Opera, Gr. et Lat. Bas. 1545, fol.—Opera, a Joan. Brodæo, Gr. et Lat. Bas. 1555, fol.—Opera, ab Henr. Steph. Gr. Par. 1561, 1581, fol. Allowed to be the most beautiful, as well as accurate, of the Greek editions by Henry Stephens. The second edition of 1581 is of more intrinsic value than the other, and contains a Latin version dated 1596.—Opera, a Joan. Leunclavio, Gr. et Lat. 1569, 1572, et 1577.—Opera, a Leunclavio. Franc. Marn. et Aubrius, 1595, folio. This title page was reprinted in 1796, with several Notes, &c. at the end of the volume. But the most popular edition of Xenophon was that reg impression of the above by Stephens. Gr. et Lat. Par. 1625, fol.—Opera, ab Edvar. Wells, Gr. et Lat. Oxon. 1703, 5 vols. 8vo. This is an edition of some merit, though the typography is far from being elegant.—Opera, a Car. Aug. Thieme, cum Præf. J. A. Ernesti, Gr. et Lat. Lips. 1763, 4 vols. 8vo. A correct and excellent edition.—Opera, a Weiskio. Lipsw. 1798, 8vo. A very valuable and critical edition, of which five volumes are all that have yet appeared. It is neatly printed, and the notes of the editor are concise and judicious.—Opera, Gr. et Lat. ex editionibus Schneiderei et Zeunii, accedit Index Latinus cura Ad. Dickensoni. Edin. 1811, 10 vols. 12mo.

h XENOPHON, Ephesius, so called from the place of his birth, lived about the end of the second, or the beginning of the third century. He is Author of a Romance "Of the Loves of Habrocomes and Anthia," the only MS. of which is preserved in the Benedictine Abbey of Monte Cassino, at Florence. It was first translated into Italian, and published 1723, 12mo.—De Amoribus Anthiæ et Abrocomæ, Lib. v. Gr. et Lat. a Cocchio. Lond. 1726, 4to. Editio princeps. — De Amor. Gr.
